Ultimus EIK Training

Training Course Overview

The Ultimus EIK Training course teaches a user everything they need to know about the Ultimus Enterprise Integration Kit (EIK). The Ultimus Enterprise Integration Kit provides the means for customizing and extending functionality of the Ultimus Adaptive BPM Suite. Ultimus BPM Server provides an open, extensible environment for business process automation. Ultimus EIK can be used as a fully functional and complete out-of-the-box solution for business process automation, or it can be embedded into third-party software packages to provide BPM functionality behind the scenes. Between these two extremes, EIK allows different levels of integration with third-party applications.

Intended Audience

This course is intended for experienced students who are familiar with designing or building workflow processes with Ultimus BPM Studio. This course is geared towards users who want to learn how to take advantage of the integration tools available in Ultimus EIK for their businesses.

Prerequisites

Successful completion of the Ultimus Adaptive BPM Suite Fundamentals training course is a must. Experience with Ultimus in a development or production environment and knowledge of SQL and relational databases is also desirable.

Potential Next Steps

After completion of this training course, users can select either advanced training or request a custom course that is tailored to fit their company's needs.

Ultimus EIK Training

Select the Most Beneficial Training Type

On-site Training - If businesses need to increase the skills of multiple employees, Ultimus On-site Training may be the best choice for several reasons:

- Users can adapt the content to their specific needs
- Workers remain on-site in case of emergency
- It saves time and travel costs
- Instructors can discuss specific problems with learners one-on-one
- Scheduling is flexible
- There are increased price savings for larger groups
- The learning environment is friendly and comfortable

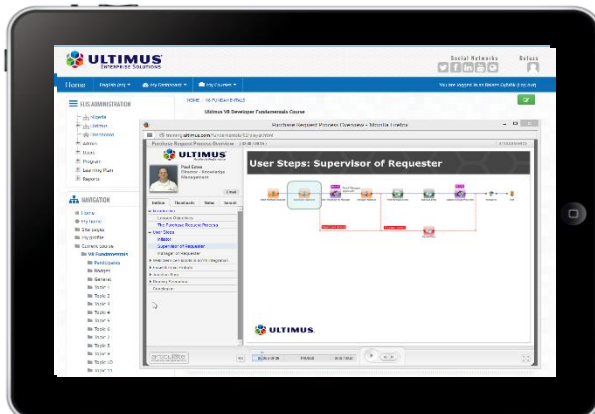

Classroom Training - This is for businesses that want to minimize the costs parallel to maximizing benefits from a live training provided at one of our training centers.

Live Online Training - Travel and accommodation costs can be eliminated with Online Training. Employees get a seat in a virtual classroom with training led by a live instructor.

On-demand E-learning - Participants can learn the basics on-demand at their own pace, and can utilize advanced trainings in any of the other three forms more effectively.

Ultimus Training Integrates with New Technologies

Through integrated online and classroom courses, Ultimus provides a truly blended learning approach. Online offerings are not only an economical alternative, but they are also an effective way to accelerate the understanding and deployment of the Ultimus Adaptive BPM Suite.
